For the avoidance of doubt, if at the relevant time for an alleged offence (the subject offence), the information available indicated that the person had allegedly committed another offence but, at some later time, the expiation notice for that other offence is withdrawn or proceedings for that other offence are discontinued, that does not affect the prosecution of the person for the subject offence, and does not mean that the person should have been given an expiation notice for the subject offence.

(1b) If a person is charged with an offence against subsection (1a) but the court is not satisfied that an offence against that subsection has been established beyond reasonable doubt, the person may be convicted, on that charge, of an offence against subsection (1) if the court is satisfied that an offence against subsection (1) has been so established.

(3) Subsection (2) does not apply if the defendant consumed the prescribed drug believing that the defendant was consuming a substance unlawfully but was mistaken as to, unaware of or indifferent to the identity of the prescribed drug.

(4) If a court convicts a person of an offence against this section, the following provisions apply:

 - (c) if the person is the holder of a driver's licence—the disqualification operates to cancel the licence as from the commencement of the period of disqualification;
 - (d) the court may, if it thinks fit to do so, order that conditions imposed by section 81A or 81AB of the Motor Vehicles Act 1959 on any driver's licence issued to the person after the period of disqualification be effective for a period greater than the period prescribed by that section.
- (5) In determining whether an offence is a first, second, third or subsequent offence for the purposes of this section (other than subsection (6)), any previous drink driving offence or drug driving offence for which the defendant has been convicted will be taken into account, but only if the previous offence was committed within the prescribed period immediately preceding the date on which the offence under consideration was committed.
- (6) If—
- (a) a person aged 16 years or more is alleged to have committed an offence against this section; and
 - (b) the information available to members of SA Police at the relevant time for the alleged offence indicates that the person has not committed or allegedly committed another drink driving offence or drug driving offence within the prescribed period immediately preceding the date on which the offence under consideration was allegedly committed, the person cannot be prosecuted for that offence unless the person has first been given an expiation notice under the Expiation of Offences Act 1996 in respect of the offence.

Note—

For the avoidance of doubt, if at the relevant time for an alleged offence (the subject offence), the information available indicated that the person had allegedly committed another offence but, at some later time, the expiation notice for that other offence is withdrawn or proceedings for that other offence are discontinued, that does not affect the prosecution of the person for the subject offence, and does not mean that the person should have been given an expiation notice for the subject offence.

 - (ii) in any other case—at the time at which the person is given the notice of immediate licence disqualification or suspension or, if the police officer giving the notice is satisfied that, in the circumstances, it would be appropriate to postpone the commencement of the relevant period and indicates in the notice that the commencement is to be postponed, 48 hours after the time at which the person is given the notice; and

 - (b) reducing the period of disqualification or suspension applicable under the notice if—

- (i) the offence to which the notice relates is a category 2 or category 3 offence that is a first offence and the Court is satisfied, on the basis of oral evidence given on oath by the applicant, that there is a reasonable prospect that the applicant might, in proceedings for the offence to which the notice relates, successfully argue that the offence was trifling (in which case the Court must order that the period of disqualification or suspension be reduced to a period of 1 month); or
 - (ii) the offence to which the notice relates is a category 3 offence and the Court is satisfied, on the basis of oral evidence given on oath by the applicant, that there is a reasonable prospect that the applicant would, in proceedings for the offence to which the notice relates, be acquitted of the offence but the evidence before the Court suggests that the applicant may be guilty of a category 2 offence (in which case the Court must order that the period be reduced to a period of 6 months).

175A—Average speed evidence

- (1) This section applies to proceedings for a prescribed road law speeding offence.
- (2) Evidence of the average speed of a vehicle between 2 average speed camera locations is, in accordance with this section, evidence of the actual speed of the vehicle.
- (3) The Minister may, by notice in the Gazette, specify—
 - (a) 2 average speed camera locations; and
 - (b) the fastest practicable route between those 2 locations; and
 - (c) the shortest distance that a vehicle could travel along that route between the 2 locations,and the Minister may, by subsequent notice in the Gazette, vary or revoke a notice given under this subsection.
- (4) For the purposes of proceedings to which this section applies—
 - (a) where a fastest practicable route between 2 average speed camera locations and a shortest distance along that route are specified by notice under subsection (3), the route and distance specified in the notice will be conclusively presumed to be the fastest practicable route, and the shortest distance along that route, between the 2 locations; and
 - (b) where a vehicle appears from average speed camera evidence to have travelled between 2 such average speed camera locations—
 - (i) the vehicle will be conclusively presumed to have been driven between the 2 locations by that shortest distance along that fastest practicable route (regardless of the actual route taken); and
 - (ii) the average speed of the vehicle between the 2 locations, calculated by reference to—

- (A) that shortest distance along that fastest practicable route; and
 - (B) the time taken for the vehicle to travel between the locations, expressed as a speed in kilometres per hour rounded down to the nearest whole number, will, subject to this section, be conclusively presumed to be the actual speed of the vehicle along the whole of the specified route between the 2 locations; and
 - (iii) subject to this section, each driver of the vehicle between the 2 locations will be conclusively presumed to have driven the vehicle at that actual speed.
- (5) Where there is evidence of the average speed of a vehicle between 2 average speed camera locations, proceedings for a prescribed road law speeding offence may, if there was more than 1 driver of the vehicle between the 2 locations, be brought against 1 driver or against some or all of the drivers jointly as co-defendants and the defendant, or each of the defendants, is liable to be convicted or found guilty of the offence.
- (6) If, in proceedings to which this section applies where there is evidence of the average speed of a vehicle between 2 average speed camera locations, the defendant satisfies the court that—
- (a) more than 1 person drove the vehicle between the 2 locations; and
 - (b) the defendant has previously furnished to the Commissioner of Police, in accordance with the regulations, a statutory declaration stating either—
 - (i) the name and address of each person other than the defendant who drove the vehicle between the 2 locations; or
 - (ii) the name and address of each such driver whose name and address is known to the defendant and, in relation to every other driver of the vehicle between the 2 locations, the reasons why the identity of the driver is not known to the defendant and the inquiries (if any) made to identify the driver; and
 - (c) in a case where the defendant has furnished a statutory declaration referred to in paragraph (b)(ii)—the defendant does not know and could not by the exercise of reasonable diligence have ascertained the identity of any driver whose name and address is not so stated; and
 - (d) that defendant did not, at any time whilst driving the vehicle between the 2 locations, drive at a speed that exceeded the speed limit applicable to the defendant,
- the court may determine that subsection (4)(b)(ii) and (iii) do not apply in relation to the proceedings against that defendant.
- (7) Evidence referred to in subsection (6)(c) and (d) must be given orally on oath.
- (8) A person—
- (a) may not be convicted or found guilty of a prescribed road law speeding offence on the basis of evidence of the average speed of the vehicle between 2 average speed camera locations calculated in accordance with this section if—

- (i) the person has been convicted or found guilty of such an offence on the basis of evidence of the actual speed of the vehicle at a particular point on its journey between the 2 locations; or
 - (ii) the person has expiated such an offence and the allegation relating to the offence was based on such evidence of actual speed; and
 - (b) may not be convicted or found guilty of a prescribed road law speeding offence on the basis of evidence of the actual speed of the vehicle at a particular point on its journey between 2 average speed camera locations if—
 - (i) the person has been convicted or found guilty of such an offence on the basis of evidence of the average speed of the vehicle between the 2 locations calculated in accordance with this section; or
 - (ii) the person has expiated such an offence and the allegation relating to the offence was based on such evidence of average speed.
- (9) The Governor may, by regulation—
 - (a) make provision for or in relation to the identification of an average speed camera location in a notice under subsection (3) or on a road or otherwise; and
 - (b) regulate the manner in which distances between 2 average speed camera locations may be determined; and
 - (c) regulate the manner in which the time taken for a vehicle to travel between 2 average speed camera locations may be determined (and may, for example, identify the point at which a vehicle will be taken to have commenced or ended a journey between 2 such locations for that purpose).

- (10) In this section—average speed camera means a photographic detection device of a kind prescribed by regulation as an average speed camera and average speed camera evidence means evidence obtained through the operation of such a device;
